

ARCHAEOLOGY FIELDWORK GRANT

Barnard College

2020

The Archaeology Fieldwork Grant offers various levels of support (up to $3,500) to subsidize the participation of undergraduates in ANTH 2011, Archaeological Field Methods, a Barnard College course held each summer in northern New Mexico. For more information about ANTH 2011, see: <https://anthropology.barnard.edu/node/89161>. Note: All applicants are strongly encouraged to meet with Prof. Fowles prior to submitting their application.

Deadline: April 15, 2020 (awards will be announced on April 24).

Eligibility: Open to all active Barnard and Columbia students, as well as Native American and Latinx students from any institution.

Selection Criteria: Awards will be granted based on an applicant's academic performance, evidence of financial need, and interest in archaeology, Native American Studies, and/or Latinx Studies.

To Apply: Applicants should submit the following documents to Prof. Severin Fowles either via email (sfowles@barnard.edu) or in his departmental mailbox (411D Milbank, Barnard College) by 5 pm on April 15.

- (1) Unofficial Transcript
- (2) Completed "2020 Application Form" (see next page)
- (3) A 500-to-700-word statement of interest, discussing your motivation for participation in an archaeological and oral historical research program in New Mexico, conducted in collaboration with indigenous and Hispano communities.
